CAMPUS CAPERS

by MISAE HIRONAKA

The controversy raging in the school now is: "What are the school Colors?" The earliest colors that symbolized our little red school house were orange and black. They were changed when a certain executive decided that the royal colors of purple nnd gold suited the school much better. They were soon forgotten. The A team bought red and white suits, the school sweaters two years ago were also red and white. At present there are no colors that mean R.H.S. to the students or to the puhlic. Bud Wood, president of our institution thinks that in spite of all the bother, we should go back to the traditional orange and black. and that I think is the opinion of a good many students nnd alumnai. However there is some opposition. Red and white look very good toget her, they are different from the colors of most other schools in this district, whereas, orange (yellow or gold) and black are very common. How is all this to end? Since there is no clause in the constitution of the school stating definitely what the colors are, the question will be put to a vote on Friday. A three-quarters majority will change the constitution and decide definitely what the colors are.

The first Hi-Times was printed in 1939 with Don Wells as Editor. This is the 8th year of publication and the editor now is James Heninger. A special issue waa printed last week stating briefly the constitution of the schcol,, which was unknown to many students, and the state of affairs regarding the school colors.

"We're going to move tomorrow, this week; this month." Many of the Japanese evacuees are moving. After 5 years of beet work many of them are going east to see the country. get a different type of work, go to school or what have you. We would like to wish you the best of luck in your new homes. We enjoyed working with you during the time that you were at the R.H.S.

THE Sport Spot

Last week, a group of hockey minded sportsters from Raymond, Magrath and Stirling banded together. and calling themselves the "Southern Alberta All-Stars" invaded Grent Falls Montana, long enough to play a two game series with the "Hornets", who are based in that town. The series was a rugged affair culminating in a near riot the second night, when with minutes left to go, a free for all developed in one corner which resulted in t wo players from each team being banished from the ice.

The series was a draw, the All-Stars winning the first 8-7, nnd losing the second 4-1. A point of note in the second game is that "Hornet" coach Don McDermid, one time New York "Ranger" scored all four Hornet counters. "Frenchy" Villaneuve who suffered a broken wrist during the second nights play, will soon leave for Los Angeles, to join the "Ramblers".

The names of the players and their home towns and positions follows:

From Raymond: Marv Foster, goal; W. Holland, Centre; Jerry Bartosek, Wing; Duke Helgerson, Defense; Gordon Scoville, Wing; G. Roberts, Wing. These players scored a totni of four goals and 3 nssists.

From Stirling: Val Gravaheck, Centre; Ted Rudd, Defense; George Goodrich, Defense; Alec Unasek, Wing.

From Magrath: Murray Bullock, Wing; Dean Bullock, Centre; Gordie Rice, Wing; Thygesen, Defense; Elmer Gorham, Wing.

Great Falls people apparently go strong for the type of play our boys put out, for they extended a hearty invitation to them to return. They also requested a game on our rink but due to the fact that there is no place to play, were turned down.

Why haven't we a place for teams such as this to come and play? Surely there are enough fans who enjoy this thrilling sport to warrnnt at least a covered rink. Even without artificial iee, a cover would go a long way toward preserving a sheet of ice long enough to give teams from as close as Great Falls time to get here with some assurance that there would be iee when they got here. Then, too, when such necessary alterations were taking place it would not hee to hard to make some provisions for the fans themselves. It takes quite a bit of room to accomodate enough fans to pay the expenses of a visiting team and this we can hardly expect with the room nvailable now.

It's high time, we say, that something was done.

One of the fastest and best played games in the annals of basketball history in the Town of Raymond was won Wednesday night by the team composed of the Business men of Raymond. Their opponents, the Sodbusters, tried every trick and strategy in their repertoire, gained from years of basketball experience but could not out do the fast playing, sharpshooting Business men. The score, when the final whistle blew, was Business men 18, Sodbusters 15. A rematch is being considered, at the request of the Sodbusters who would have it that the winning team be considered visitors and [illegible] chicken, accordingly.

scribe thinks this a very good idea, and would like the opinion of the business men's team members.

The line up of teams is as follows: We are sorry we could not get the individual scores:

Business men: Rol Stone, Ken Stone Lyman Jacobs, Athol Cooper, Don Walker, Ira Bourne, Billy Hughes, Winston Shaw and Derral Miller.

Sodbusters: Billy Meeks, Jack Evans Mel Depew, Fay Walker, Claude Peterson, Bruce Galbraith, Carl Salmon, and Rudy Audinnet

Whistle blowers: Cliff Nelder and Lee Fairbanks.

More games with teams of such high calihre would be a good thing for the sport spirit of the town, we think. And too, it would give the younger generation of players now coming up a goal to strive for.

Passenger Tired Of Waiting Drives Tram

PHILADELPHIA.—Motorman Milton Shaw pulled his trolley to a halt recently and dropped into a lunchroom for a snack.

Two persons boarded the trolley, then another. The latter fidgetted in his seat, suddenly jumped up, ran to the controls and started the car.

"Hey you can't do that," shouted Shaw as he dropped his food and gave chase.

Shaw pursued the trolley seven blocks. Then the man at the controls halted to pick up a passenger who turned out to be Patrolman Samuel Wyche.

The driver, who said he was George Quigley, 31, was arrested on charges of malicious mischief and operating a trolley without the owner's consent.

SHAW WAS OUTWITTED BY WOMEN'S SOCIETY

In New York the Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace wrote to George Bernard Shaw in London saying they were raising money by auctioning some autographed books, and would he please autograph some?

Shaw replied that he would not. He thought the cause of the United Nations was "too big for your little Women's Action Committee." He scoffed at some length.

The women went ahead with the auction and sold one of the popular American autographed books for $70. They sold Shaw's grouchy letter for $170.—New York Herald Tribune.

PROTECTION FROM WHOOPING COUGH

The Kitchener Record says a life insurance survey brought out the surprising fact that whooping cough kills more children every year than pollomyelitis and scarlet fever combined. That should be food for thought for parents who have more or less accepted whooping cough as a necessary evil for which little can be done. It is pointed out that many unnecessary deaths occur annually because parents do not take elementary precautions to prevent exposure of children to this dangerous affliction.

A little routine care can sometimes pay big dividends in such a situation.

Children should be given the protection of the whooping cough serum at an early age. Although the serum doesn't provide sure immunity, it virtually guarantees a mild case if the child happens to get the disease.

HAVING TOUGH TIME

According to the Vancouver Province cupid is having an increasingly difficult time in selling marriage to young couples and making them keep up their payments. Divorce courts are grinding out decrees at record speed while the high cost of living is postponing countless matrimonial ventures. In 1946 Vancouver set a record with 1,235 divorces and in B.C., the total of broken marriages increased nearly 70 per cent. over the previous year.

For five hours of the day, five days of the week, our childrens eyesight is strained by poorly lighted and poorly decorated buildings.

My Week.

by R. J. Deachman

I was in Washington in the autumn of 1938 writing stories about American problems—they have plenty of them, even more than we have. One day I said to the clerk in the hotel: "Who will be your next president?" "Vandenberg", he answered Then he added: "I would like you to speak to the Assistant manager, he knows more about politics than I do". He called him over, I asked the same question. He said: "Vandenberg, a change and a different type of president." So I moved to the telephone booth and called up the office of the Senator from Michigan. His secretary told me I couldn't see him that day, but if I gave him a call tomorrow he would see if it could be arranged. I called the next day and a few minutes later I was headed for the senator's office.

Vandenberg is a big man, six feet or more, a hefty chap, perhaps 200 pounds. He was warm, genial and comfortable. He didnt seem to be in any particular hurry. He put his feet on his desk and talked freely. He was a typical American with a Central Western point of view. He believed in the United States, the United States to him was the centre of the world, his world. It would not matter much what other nations did. It would go its free untrammelled way. He was an isolationist. The United States should keep out of European troubles, should concentrate upon its own tasks. If it clung to that point of view, Providence would, in some way or other, guide its steps aright. He was a firm believer in high protection. It had built up the United States to the proud position it then occupied. I asked him about its effects upon other countries. The others would have to look after themselves, the prosperity of the United States would help other lands!

I pointed out that, in the great depression, there was a suggestion of fundamental weakness in the United States. It had gone into the depression earlier, sunk deeper, stayed down longer, came up with more difficulty. He didn't like this brushed it aside. There were some fundamental things which needed to be changed but the United States was sitting on top of the world and of one thing he seemed assured, the United States was not going to be tricked into any other war. The experiences of the past was thoroughly distasteful, they had had enough. The idealism of the American people had been affronted by the conduct of Europe after the first war.

So there we were. I went back to my hotel and by chance I met the same assistant manager. He looked up with a happy grin: "Will I bet on Vandenberg?" "No', I said, "no chance", he is a likable chap, I think he would be popular in his own territory but he is distant from the trend of the times and Vandenber unless he changes his point of view and he wont budge easily, will not be the choice of the American people at the next election, much less in later elections."

My judgement was wrong I was right in my conception of the Vandenberg who then existed, but he is a different Vandenberg now. He has broadened his Americanism until it approaches Internationalism. He sees the United States now, not as one power standing alone and aloof from the troubles of the world but as part of a great world organization. He is willing that the United tates with its unique position, should take a large part in the affairs of the world. The hard core of extreme protectionism may still remain with him, but I imagine that within his mind there now comes the idea that America no longer needs a tariff.

He was in a large measure, responsible for drawing the Republicans into closer alliance with the Democrats in so far as foreign policy was concerned. He was in accord with Byrnes on that question. Conditions changed, he changed with conditions or perhaps a bit ahead of them. Intuition rather than reason told him that it was time to change and it is this which has made me change my mind and judgement in regard to Vandenberg. He might some day, under certain circumstances become President of the United States.

MACHINERY

"The immediate effect of the invention and employment of an ingenius machine is to render superfluous, for the attainment of a given result, a certain amount of manual labour. But its action does not stop there. For the very reason that the desired result is obtained with fewer efforts, the product is handed over o the public at a lower price; and the aggregate of savings thus realised by all purchasers, enables them to procure other satisfactions; that is to say, to encourage manual labour in general to exactly the extent of the manual labour which has been saved in the special branch of industry which has been recently improved. So that the level of labour has not fallen, while that of enjoyments has risen."

KERRICK KLEANER

1. What is it?

The KERRICK KLEANER is the best and most modern type of motor and parts steam cleaner made. This machine is expensive but is almost foolproof in that it is thermostatically controlled. From a cold start it is ready for work in two minutes. Developes 90 pounds steam pressure at 300 degrees F. Soap solution is automatically mixed with this steam pressure.

2. What Is It Used For?

This machine is used to clean all motor and car parts that are being assembled into a job. Motors in cars, trucks or tractors are completely cleaned before being worked on. Motors, air cleaners splash pans, transmission cases wiring harness become coated with grease and dirt. This is detrimental to good operation and no one likes to see it. In very short order the "Kerrick Kleaner" will make yours look like new.

3. Why Did We Install It?

We installed this "Kerrick Kleaner to complete our full line of latest type garage equipment. To make our mechanics happier, by preventing those dirty jobs with grease over the parts, floors, tools and mechanics. By having parts perfectly clean, better work can be done, resulting in better jobs, more satisfied customers. Most important—ask any mechanic how much of his time is spent washing parts on the average motor job. Hours are spent every day in any shop cleaning parts. The "Kerrick Kleaner" will do more cleaning and a better job in 30 minutes than any man can do in a day. Besides saving time on cleaning, mechanics can save time on a clean job where their tools are clean and no scraping around in dirt and grease trying to get at some bolt or nut.

A Challenge To Agriculture

FOR SOME YEARS NOW Canadian farmers have worked to supply a market which has taken all and more than they could produce. Granaries and elevators have been emptied, and, supplies of meat and dairy products have often come far short of the demand for them. All this was a great change from the years when large quantities of wheat were held over from season to season, and farmers were on some occasions induced to cut down acreage in order to avoid serious over-production. No one wishes these conditions to return, but there are many who wonder what will happen to the market for Canadian farm products when normal crops are again harvested thoughout the world.

* * * * *

Answer Given Many Times

The answer to this question has been given many times by agricultural experts and nutritionalists both here and abroad. Even in what we consider to be normal times, these experts tell us that a great part of the world's population exists on a diet which is far below the minimum requirements for good health. If people everywhere were adequately fed, standards of health would be higher and this might go far to help in the solution of many of the problems of the present day, for there is no doubt but that lack of food is an important cause of political unrest.

* * * * *

Real Need For Wider Markets

Higher nutrition standards throughout the world would mean a steady demand for Canadian farm products and it has frequently been pointed out that Canadians have a real interest in developing wider markets abroad for the food which is grown here. It is not a simple matter to cultivate new and wider markets, for we cannot export unless we are also prepared to buy from other lands, which brings up the far-reaching question of increasing buying power in our own country. Dean Grant MacEwan of the University of Manitoba, speaking on this subject before a gathering in Winnipeg recently said that if we can stimulate world-wide interest in nutrition there cannot be any surplus of farm products. "The fact is," he declared, "there are not enough acres in the world to feed all the people properly." He added "The potential markets are there. The challenge to us is to transform them from potential to real markets. And it is going to take a lot of educating to do it." This is a question to which we should be giving much thought and attention at this time.

Here's A Way To Get A House

ADELAIDE, Australia.—A man in Adelaide advertised for a house—and got one. His advertisement read:

"I am a beaut, I only work when I have to, and I don't like gardening.

"If you must know I beat my wife.

"I have a youngster, too, who will draw nice pictures on your walls, the little pet.

"I put up with them because I love them. I'll go on living with them.

"The question is—where? Your guess is as good as mine, but I'm not particular, as long as we are on our own.

"I'm tired of beating up the in-laws, so if you think your house can stand it, please ring F3294."

Next morning a man rang the number given and said: "Who are you, anyway?"

Given the information, the caller rang off with, "I was curious to know if you were fair dinkum. I think you must be nuts."

Five minutes later another man rang and offered a caravan at the seaside. The offer was declined.

Soon after a third rang and said: "I like your sense of humor Joe. I haven't got a house to offer, but I like your style and I'll do my best to find you one."

The fourth caller offered a new five-roomed house for a "man with imagination."

The Ottawa Journal says in Montreal a truck-driver, warned by a passenger of a cyclist ahead, said: "Watch me give him a good fright." The truck struck the bicycle, killed its rider, and the driver now has three years in the penitentiary to think about it all. It is a fine place for smart alecks of that sort.

People Must Use Intelligence

Science now promises to take the toil out of weed eradication. It has come up with a spray that will kill the noxious growths but will not harm vegetables. It sounds like Utopia for gardeners.

It is well to note, however, that the announcement is made with some reservations. The new spray must be used carefully according to directions. Like many of the remedies developed for human ills, careless handling can lead to disaster. All the great discoveries of science will not bring us to an age in which we are relieved of the responsibility for using our God-given intelligence. Thought will always be necessary, and for that we should be thankful. —Windsor Star.

CANADA'S COAL RESERVE ENOUGH FOR 27 CENTURIES

OTTAWA.—The royal commission on coal sharply reduced estimates of Canada's coal reserves, but soothed the dismayed with the announcement that there should be enough for everybody for the next 27 centuries.

The report said Canada possesses about 99,000,000,000 tons of mineable coal or about 49,000,000,000 tons which is recoverable.

The estimate, compiled by Dr. B. R. MacKay of the federal mines department, was based on current level of production.

His total worked out at less than 10 per cent. of the only previous nation-wide estimate, one of 1,360,535,000,000 tons made in 1913 which could not be considered an accurate estimate from the standpoint of practical mining.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

When the prisoner in the dock was asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed on him, he replied:

"Well," he said, "you are getting twelve months. How much more do you want?"

AMERICAN WOLVES COMING INTO CANADA

TORONTO.—American wolves are migrating to Canada in such large numbers that the Ontario government is studying various wolf-control plans to protect sheep in the border district.

The unwelcome immigrants are brush wolves whose numbers have multiplied during the last five or six years.

Harkness did not give any reason for the migration.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

COMMENCEMENT

By ELAINE FRANCIS

THIRTEEN of the seniors at Miss Folton's boarding school were excited and happy this graduation day. The fourteenth, Betsy Van Nord was miserable. In a few minutes she would be revealed as anything but "the select young lady" Miss Folton's turned out. Just wait until Marly, Louise, and all her other friends saw her parents. Why did they have to come and ruin everything? After practically ignoring her for four years, why couldn't they have stayed on the West Coast?

"Daddy and I could not bear to miss our little girl's big day, so we are dropping our contract at the Club Chichi," mother had written in her big, sprawling hand, "and will arrive by bus, train, or carrier pigeon." Phoole!

"The darling dopes," Aunt Jean sighed when Betsy read it over the telephone. "But what's a job when you've given up everything..."

Betsy interpreted this in her own light. Her parents were irresponsible. She had thought so for quite awhile, ever since they shipped her cast to Mrs. Trilling, Dad's elder sister. "It's for your sake, darling," Dad said, "the hot spots where mom and I work, are no place for a twelve year old beauty. Remember, we'll miss you." Double phooie! They were just ducking their duties.

The first heartbreak over, Betsy learned to love Aunt Jean, her New York apartment, and finally Miss Folton's. It was such an exclusive school—scholastically high, too—that Betsy could never have held up her head without a touch of showmanship in her blood. At least that is how she felt. For the other girls, daughters of wealthy professional men, were so similar in appearance, speech, and background. The important thing, Betsy determined, was to be exactly like them. By adroit questioning and later, on vacation visits, she learned much about their families. Regarding her own she said little, and that little, highly imaginary. Her parents, she admitted if pressed, were engaged in social work on the coast. Which was one way of describing the rough and tumble comedy team of North and North. She was glad they used an assumed name for their act, and gladder that Aunt Jean, her sponsor, was white-haired and patrician. Surely, she would not have been accepted if Miss Folton knew her parents. They were so different in every way from the trim mothers, the tailored fathers, Betsy met. Mom, with her wild henna hair that looked so beautiful in the spotlight, so outre in the daylight. Dad with his startling jackets and booming voice. By eastern standards, they were loud, exuberant—awful. If only something would prevent their arrival. Once exposed as different, how could she ever face her friends again? She could imagine the raised eyebrows, the tittered comments, the...

Slowly, she descended the winding stairs and even more slowly entered the reception room filled with beaming relatives of the graduates. She said hello to those she knew and would have missed her parents entirely if it were not for Aunt Jean. They were so neat and subdued that momentarily her heart filled with relief. It sank again when she reached them. Mother's flaming hair was too set in its unnatural sausage curls, her dress too severe. And father's morning suit was too stiff, even his gardenia looked sharp. Was it the cheapness of their clothes that made them seem like caricatures of the others?

"Darling," her mother cried and though she did not fling her round, full arms about Betsy and press her to her soft high breasts, the richness of her voice gave that affect. "My dearest," her father said, "you're beautiful," and his words boomed around the room. Betsy winced. She kissed them almost cooly and then fell frantically on Aunt Jean. Here was someone worthy of display.

Mother's lips quivered as though she had been slapped but Betsy edged them into a corner and started talking, talking...Various friends waved, motioning them over to their group, but Betsy did not move. Nor when Marly with her parents in tow, paused to speak to Aunt Jean, did she make any introductions. She felt her friends staring at her, probably whispering about her, and she wished desperately the exercises were over. Chagrin replaced the happiness on her parents' faces. Serves them right, she thought bitterly, and turned with relief when the gong sounded for the graduates to assemble.

It's difficult to restrain a voice which has been trained to make itself heard in the most remote corner, which accounts, no doubt, for what Betsy overheard half way down the room. "Belle", dad said, we've got a lady on our hands. Was it worth it?"

Betsy looked back. Mother was smiling up at dad, comfortingly, "Was it worth it?" What did he mean? Aunt Jean had paid for all this—or had she? Mrs. Trilling had never been rich, where had she suddenly found the money? Betsy must have misinterpreted what Aunt Jean tried to tell her on the phone and at other times. For four years mother and dad had been knocking themselves out, three shows a night, not letting her know their sacrifices or loneliness, so that she could have a good education. They had relied on her to understand their love if not the denials. Commencement! It was high time she started acting like a graduate instead of a dope.

Marly edged close to her and asked indignantly, "Why didn't you introduce me to your parents? They look like actors."

"They are in a way," Betsy replied proudly, "and you'll meet them right after this."

"How exciting! Gosh, you're lucky."

Betsy smiled at this unexpected reaction. Yet Marly was right, she was lucky. What was the point in having parents the same as everyone else's. Being different was the main part of growing up. Mounting the platform, she searched the audience for her family and then smiled broadly into their eyes.

ST. VICTOR AN OASIS ON PRAIRIES

ST. VICTOR, Sask.—This hamlet of about 80 residents, 10 miles from the nearest railroad or highway, is an oasis in the dry wheatlands of south central Saskatchewan.

Two dams, built with the assistance of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, provide a stream deep enough for swimming as well as water for orchards of plums, cherries and apples. Raspberries and strawberries also thrive here.

But the most incongruous feature of St. Victor is that almost half the population is made up of men and women in their twenties. They work for a funeral benefit insurance society which does all its business by mail.

The site is a green acre in the hot summer months with swimming and fishing close at hand back of the dams. If night club entertainment is preferred there is Glasgow, Montana, a few miles away across the border.

Leader of the tiny community is J. F. Lalonde, head of the insurance society, who came from Quebec in 1916.

His brother, Eugene, was the original postmaster and still holds the post.

The Lalonde home is something of a "Shangri-la" in this farming district. A tennis court and fish pond make it even more fantastic for a prairie home. There are maples, elms, poplars on the grounds.

Lalonde's 50-foot beach was formed when he put in his own dam which utilizes waters of nearby springs.

More Health-Giving

Nutritional Value Of Milk Retained Longer In Colored Bottles

Now it's painted milk bottles. Toronto's Banting laboratories suggests that if a red or green bottle were used instead of the traditional clear-glass container, the milk would retain its nutritional value longer.

Experiments with riboflavin—better known as vitamin B2—led to the painted bottle idea. Nutritional and food investigations by R.C.A.F. doctors and the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children established the fact that the riboflavin essential to good health could best be obtained through milk and dairy products. Also established was the fact that milk exposed to sunlight loses it riboflavin fairly rapidly.

The Banting laboratories idea, then, was not prompted by any desire to bring milk bottles into line with the current trend toward more colorful surroundings. Rather it sprang from investigation indicating that milk in colored bottles would tend to be a more health-giving drink.

TIMELY ADVICE FOR THE WINTER SEASON

Don't carry heavy bundles and don't overexert in any way. It is timely advice.

Taxi Driving In London Is Difficult

Geography Of Streets Is Hard For Newcomers To Learn

The British Legion is exerting itself to equip ex-soldiers for taxi-driving. London stands in need of at least another thousand taxis which means addition of double that number of drivers. The trouble is to teach new drivers the geography of the streets. The Home Office test is a very searching one involving close study extending over several months. Even ex-drivers who are coming back to the work after six years with the forces confess to being very rusty. On one occasion, a journalist was taken a considerable distance out of his way. He remonstrated at the end of the journey. No one could have been more apologetic than the driver. He admitted he had gone all wrong and voluntarily suggested a substantial reduction in the fare. "Give me just a bob, sir, and I'll be quite satisfied," he said. When his fare learned that he had been all through the Burma campaign he gave him more than the taximeter recorded.

This is an enormous sales increase and its all based on two ideas—uniform quality and careful packaging so that "Salada" reaches the user in prime condition.

FATHER GIVES LIFE TO SAVE SON FROM DROWNING

NEW YORK. — Police said that Edward Henning, 45, sacrificed his life to save that of his 14-year-old son after their frail kayak overturned in Little Neck Bay.

"Hang on to the boat, son, and keep kicking," were the last words that Edward Henning, Jr., heard his father say after choppy waves had overturned the single cockpit kayak.

Police said that Henning, a 200-pound man wearing a heavy sheepskin coat, then let go of the kayak and was drowned, knowing that the craft could not support both weights.

Young Henning was rescued.

A DOG'S LIFE IN RAYMOND

It is rather an unpleasant and difficult job in keeping the number of stray dogs cut down to a minimum. This nuisance generally starts by the parents getting some young pup for their child to play with but the poor puppy has attained the grown stage, the parents and in some cases the child lose all their affections for "fido" and he is left to roam the streets and garbage piles to try and survive. This type of dog may be captured and destroyed and if the owner or harborer if known he may be charged with a fee for the trouble. This dog may be called a "stray" as it has no license to be in the town under any conditions.

However the person who cares for his dog and thinks him worthy of a license has much more protection insofar as the law is concerned. His dog has the privilege of being a resident of Raymond as long as he behaves himself, and to die a natural death rather than by "lead poisoning". There are, however, circumstances under which a licensed dog can be destroyed. "If any dog bites, or attempts to bite, any person or causes any nuisance to such person such as killing chickens etc. that person has the right by law to go to a Justice of the Peace and lay a complaint. If the charge is proven, the Justice may order the owner or harborer of such animal to have the said animal destroyed or removed from the town limits. This is the proper proceedure to follow in the case of a licensed dog guilty of any of the offenses mentioned.

A female dog whether licensed or not, while in heat, if left to run at large, may be destroyed without going through the proceedure of law, if care is taken in destroying the animal. This generally takes considerable chasing to get a suitable place to shoot the animal, as in most cases they will out run the pursuer and stick to the main street and business places in company with all her admirers.

So it is plain to see that just for the sake of a dollar or two dollars for a license your dog may enjoy life without fear of the shot-gun, providing he behaves. These regulations govern dogs within the town limits. Outside of town there is no dog tax and the regulations differ slightly.

It appears then that if a dog is worth keeping, he is worth a license. If not get rid of him for sure as fate trouble is in store for you. Dont wait until the dog is destroyed and then howl louder than the dog. In my experiences, those that dont feed or license their pets set up an awful fuss if their dog turns up missing. He wasn't any good when alive but the minute he is shot, why should he be worthy of a Victoria Cross.

$9,500,000 ALBERTA PROGRAM FOR ROADS

Preparations are being made by the provincial public works department for a major road program this year, involving a possible outlay of $9,500,000 for main highways accord ing to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

While cabinet approval has not been given as yet, it is believed that the amount named in preliminary departmental estimates will be o. k.'d and if not the sum to be appropriated will approach that amount.

In preparation for this major program the department already is taking preliminary steps to line up contracts so that there will be no delay when spring opens and the first sections of the program gets under way.

The government has announced that an opportunity will be given to contractors outside the province to bid on contracts as it hopes to have every available piece of equipment at work.

Certain hard surfacing projects also are scheduled for main highways in northern and southern parts of the province. Some are carry-overs from the 1946 program and these will be among the first to receive attention this year.

A.M.A. officials have been assured that it is the intention to have much of the work completed before the peak of the summer touring season.

PROPANE GAS RUMOURS EXPLODED !

Of late there has been much said about the quality and usefulness of Propane gas, which will be available to users in Raymond and Magrath and surrounding districts by the middle of summer or sooner. As the things that were said did notalways jibe, nor were they always strictly logical, we decided to look into the matter and pass what information we could gather on to you. These, then, are some of the facts which we were able to unearth from various informed sources.

Propane gas is produced and manufactured in Alberta.

Cost of the gas will run about 20 cents per gallon. This is about on a par with the cost of the natural gas in Calgary, which is the cheapest form of fuel on the North American continent. The gas will of course be cheaper in bulk than in cylinders which is the usual form of supply. The price quoted above will include distribution.

Change-over units for your present stoves, or new units specially constructed for this gas will be available before the gas comes into general use.

The gas, with its appliances has practically an unlimited number of uses such as silent refrigeration, room heating, cooking, hot water heating, sterilizing, etc. This form of heating has the added advantage of giving a steady, reliable heat regadr less of weather, in that it does not rely on drafts, etc. as do other types of fuel.

The gas is also unusually convenient in that it comes in a variety of sizes of containers, one for each of the uses to which the gas may be put.

We are eagerly awaiting the arrival of this new fuel and think it will help a lot toward ridding the town of the many unsightly heaps of ashes which are only TOO obvious wherever we look.

Plan Better Rural Housing For Prairies

SASKATOON.—A recommendation that a co-ordinating committee be appointed to investigate all matters allied with improvement in rural housing, community centres and similar buildings was passed at a meeting attended by rural housing representatives from the prairie provinces. It was sponsored by the Central Mortgage and Housing corporation.

The suggested committee would contain representatives of the governments of the three provinces, their universities, the federal department of Agriculture, National Research council, and Central Mortgage and Housing corporation. The latter will pass on the recommendation to the provincial ministers concerned.

It was suggested that duties of the committee would be to investigate architectural designs for improvement in farm homes, use of water and sewage disposal systems, improved heating systems, and generally consider the design and structure of buildings that could be used as community centres or for recreation purposes. The committee would also determine where special research would be conducted leading to the objective outlined, taking into account the people best qualified to do the work and facilities available for it.

The two representatives of Central Mortgage and Housing corporation at the meeting were T. B. Pickersgill, supervisor of the farm loans division, and S. A. Gitterman, Ottawa. Also present were six representatives of the Manitoba Rural Housing committee, Alberta government and University of Saskatchewan, the experimental station at Swift Current, Sask., and E. E. Eisenhauer, deputy minister of Reconstruction and Rehabilitation in Saskatchewan.

Five Million Pounds Butter For Canada

OTTAWA. — Five million pounds of butter will be shipped to Canada from New Zealaad to augment this country's butter supply aad of that total approximately 1,500,000 pouads has already reached Halifax, Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, disclosed in an exclusive interview here with the Regina Leader-Post.

"The butter from New Zealaad will enable Caaada to get through the ensuing year without reducing the present butter ration of six ounces per person per week," Mr. Gardiner said.

Last year when Canadina butter stocks dwindled and production fell off the ration had to be cut to four ounces in March. It was not raised to six ounces until June 1.

"We can get 12,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand and Australia this year if we aeed it to maintain our present ration. But, providing there is no sudden drop in our owa butter production, compared with previous years, I believe 5,000,000 pounds will be all that we require.

"The butter from New Zealand was originally scheduled to go to the United Kingdom. Its diversion to Caaada will not mean any reduction in the British ration of spreading fats. The rations for spreading fats in Canada are not higher than ia Great Britain and New Zealand. However, in the United Kiagdom the ration is made up of a combination of butter plus oleomargarine.

"The shipping of butter from New Zealand to Canada will make it possible for the authorities in this country to maintain the same ration of sprending fats as in effect in the United Kingdom," said Mr. Gardiner.

"Canadians consume large quantities of butter and a small quantity of vegetable oils. In the United Kingdom their consumption of butter is relatively low hut they are heavy consumers of vegetable oils. Oleomargarine today for the most part is manufactured out of vegetable oils, unlike the First Great War when it was made out of animal fats."

Saskatchewan Could Produce More Wheat

SASKATOON. — Wheat production in at least one-third of Saskatchewaa, Canadn's greatest wheat growing province, could be increased 20 per cent. by use of fertilizers, Dr. H. G. Dion of the soils depnrtment of the University of Saskatchewan told the northern Saskatchewan branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

This aloue would "push off the day" when the soil's fertility would be exhausted and productioa drop off.

Advances in mechanienl methods of farming, increased control of disease and pests and improved crop techniques were other reasons for believiag crop production in Canada would be maintained at its present level for some time to come. 2712

NEW AMENDMENTS TO LABOR CODE

OTTAWA.—Provincial jurisdiction over "war industries" will be restored March 31 under an order-in-council tabled in the commons by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The order, passed Jan. 30, also will have the effect of consolidating into P.C. 1003—the federal labor relations bill—nll machinery for the investigntion and conciliation of industrial disputes.

Apart from the section returning powers to the provinces, the order comes into effect Feb. 15.

The new amendments are regarded as of a transitional nature, to bridge the gap between now and the time—later in this session—when the governaent brings in its proposed new labor code.

DOG RACING CANCELLED

LONDON.—Dog racing in Britain was cancelled by the government recently owing to the drastic electricity cuts, it was anaounced at a ministry of fuel and power confereace.

BRITAIN TO GET BRITISH COLUMBIA'S CHOICE LUMBER

VANCOUVER.—Great Britain will buy 40 per cent. of British Columbia's lumber production in 1947 nt a record high price under contracts now being concluded here by Sir Archibald Harris, British timber controller.

For paying the high prices it is understood Britain will get increased selectivity in B.C. lumber—the choice of the best produced.

Holland and Frnnce nre also to get B.C. lumber and some will he shipped to the United States. It is expected lumber earmarked for Canadian domestic use will be held to 35 per cent. of the cut.

EMERGENCY CHURCHES

BERLIN—Tweaty-one prefabricated emergency churches have been received from Switzerland to replace some of those destroyed or damaged in Germany during the war, the American military goverament said.

Storm Hardships

Country Centres Holding Well

REGINA.—Lack of fuel and feed in most rural centres, many of which have had but one train in a month has reached a precarious state. Food also is low but no cases of actual distress have been reported.

Farmers expect to see a considernble loss in livestock due to the lack of feed. Many cattle weak from the lack of proper feed were unable to withstand the cold weather and perished. Due to the tieups in transportation farmers were unable to ship them to the stock yards when the feed shortage became apparent.

Country people hope for warm weather or their domestic supply of fuel will be exhausted in a short time.

Conservation measures are being taken by dealers who have fuel but many have been without for several days.

In some places dealers are without fuel and residents nre unable to replenish their supply of wood from the bluffs because of the depth of the snow. There, baby foods and milk were in short supply.

Farmers were expecting to take a loss in livestock. One farmer found two of his horses dead and said there would be many more.

Some residents are maintaining their supply of groceries by sleighing them in from distant places.

Estimated loss of cattle at Mankota, Sask., due to lack of feed was 18 head. Feed situation there was extremely acute.

Riverhurst, Sask., was relieved when an air ambulance plane brought food. Medical supplies were low and it wns believed an attempt might be made to bring in fuel oil by tractor train.

LEGISLATION FOR DEBT REFUNDING

OTTAWA. — Legislation ratifying plans for refunding part of the treasury bills of indebtedness of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta nnd British Columbia will be submitted to parliament this session, it was disclosed in a return tabled for P. E. Gagnon (Ind.-Chicontimi).

The treasury bills represent loans made to the provinces for relief and other purposes during the great depression.

B.C. PENSIONERS GET BOOST

VICTORIA, B.C.—Old age pensioners in British Columbia will receive a $5 a month cost of living bonus retroactive to Jan. 1 this year, a joint announcement by Premier John Hart, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb and Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson said.

The bonus, second to be granted by the province, will bring the monthly old age pension allowance to $35. Of this nmount B.C. will pay $16.25 and the federal government $18.75.

Premier Hart said the bonus was being given for a temporary period pending revision of the old age pension arrangements by the Dominion government.

The premier said that while in Ottawa last November, he was assured by Prime Minister King that the moment a sufficient number of provinces had signed agreements, he would call a conference to discuss the question of implementing the social security measures and public investment program submitted to the Dominion-provincial conference in August, 1945.

"It now is my intention to press for a convening of that conference and I have every hope that more generous treatment will be accorded those in receipt of old age pensions," Mr. Hart said.

The new bonus will cost the province $900,000 annually. Total amount now paid out in pensions to B.C.'s 18,000 pensioners is $5,700,000 annually of which the Dominion's share is $3,761,000.

NET INCOME OF CANADA IS LOWER

OTTAWA. — Canada's net national income declined to $9,212,000,000 in 1946 from $9,587,000,000 the previous year despite increases of $247,000,000 in civilian salaries and wages, the bureau of statistics reported.

Salaries, wages and supplemeatary labor income rose to $5,112,000,000, the highest since the survey was started in 1938, compared with $4,865,000,000 in 1945. Investment income totalled $1,776,000,000 against $1,916,000,000, and net income of individual enterprise, agriculture and other, was $2,009,000,000 in 1946 against $1,674,000,000 the previous year.

The report said the moderate decline in money totals actually was larger in real terms because, of a 4.8 per cent. incrense in the index of wholesale prices nnd 3.4 per cent. in the cost-of-living index.

A single whale may be valued commercially at from $500 to $10,000.

Personal plane Queen Elizabeth will use in South Africa, n Vickers Viking, is seen at Wisley airfield in Surrey as it wns examined by newspapermen. Four such planes will be used by the royal family when the South African tour plans necessitate air travel.

To Continue Collaboration With U.S.

OTTAWA. — Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced in the commons a limited peacetime continuation of defence collaboration with the United States and "emphatically" denied that Canada's southern neighbor had asked for military bases in the Canadian north.

Simultaneous statements in Ottawa and Washington said the two countries had made an informal working arrangement to continue wartime cooperation through exchange of personnel and observers, reciprocal "availability" of facilities, gradual application of common designs and standards in arms, equipment, training and organization.

Both in the statement and in elaborating comments, Mr. King maintained that the move would "support and strengthen the United Nations" and held that it was a "contribution to the stability of the world." It paralleled traditional procedures within the British commonwealth and in no way interfered with or replaced them.

Mr. King's statement recalled 1938 assurances by both himself and the late President Roosevelt that the defence of one country meant defence of the other and indicated that those statements were being molded into tangible, post-war forms.

It was, he said, as a result of deliberations of the seven-year-old joint permanent defence board—its Canadian head is Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton—that the two countries had decided to collaborate "in the interests of efficiency and economy" and "to the extent authorized by law," on the basis of these five principles:

1. Interchange of selected individuals so as to increase the familiarity of each country's defence establishment with that of the other country.

2. General co-operation and exchange of observers in connection with exercises and with the development and tests of material of common interest.

3. Encouragement of common designs and standards in arms, equipment, organization, methods of training and new developments. As certain United Kingdom standards have long been in use in Canada, no radical change is contemplated or practicable and the application of this principle will be gradual.

4. Mutual and reciprocal availability of military, naval and air facilities in each country; this principle to be applied as may be agreed in specific instances. Reciprocally each country will continue to provide, with a minimum of formality, for the transit through its territory and its territorial waters of military aircraft and public vessels of the other country.

5. As an underlying principle all co-operative arrangements will be without impairment of the control of either country over all activities in its territory.

Income Tax Reductions Held Likely For 1947

OTTAWA.—Taxpayers can expect additional cuts off their income taxes for the calendar year, 1947, likely ranging from about 15 per cent. off the lower to 5 per cent. off the upper brackets, according to reports here from usually reliable but unofficial sources.

Such a graduated scale of income tax cuts would bring the total reductions for 1947, including those made January 1, last, to an approximate average reduction over the whole 1947 income tax range to between 25 and 30 per cent.

This reduction, however, it is understood, would include the tax loss due to eliminating about 550,000 low bracket taxpayers struck from the rolls January 1 by reason of increased single and married exemptions.

The cuts will be made possible by the fact that the government will end this fiscal year, March 31, with a cash surplus of about $250,000,000 to $350,000,000, instead of an estimated deficit of $30,000,000.

It is learned there had been some discussion as to the advisability of withholding at least a portion of the proposed lower bracket income cuts to make a contribution to increased old age pensions payments to the provinces. The scheme would also make all old age pensions payable without a means test. Apparently, the proposal has not met with much favor and the straight income tax cuts will be made instead. The government, it is learned, has also decided to moderate at least double taxation of dividends received from corporations which have already been taxed as corporation profits. The corporation profits tax may be slightly increased and taxes on subsequent dividends paid from these profits abolished.
